

Selected Resort Hotels

Background

John Johnson's early career led him to become a partner in one of the leading global hotel consultancies of the 1980's, Laventhol & Horwath, and directed the firm's specialty with private clubs and luxury resorts. As a "lateral hire" to Arthur Andersen & Co, John's expertise expanded to larger scale resort developments, with integration of land uses and shared amenities.

Over the course of his professional career JNJ has directed many market studies, valuations and other engagements which provided the basis for capital formation to develop, recapitalize, or transact properties. Many of projects actually get built, giving testimony value of our services over the years.
